

Making Good

THE man who puts you on his pay roll will ask you this question—

“What do you know?”

If you are a graduate of this school you need merely tell him that.

Rhode Island employers prefer B. & S. - R. I. Commercial School graduates, and place implicit confidence in our recommendations. They have the highest regard for the method of teaching business principles that is employed here.

A good position—and a good salary—await every graduate.

Read the little records of big successes made by our graduates in the world of business.

Showing what you can do in the business world equipped with B. & S.-R. I. Commercial School training . . . . .

It is my wish to extend to you my thanks for the pleasant and lucrative position which you obtained for me.

My position was obtained for me before I had completed the course I took at your school.

I can say without hesitancy that the Bryant & Stratton-Rhode Island Commercial School is THE school for business training.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM A. WATSON.

After being connected with your school for sixteen months, it gives me great pleasure to recommend the school as a thoroughly efficient and up-to-date business school. The instruction given is so complete that no detail of business routine is overlooked, and competence for any business office work is the result.

GERTRUDE M. MARBLE.

During the winter 1913 and 1914, I attended your Evening School and took the Business Course.

Through your up-to-date methods and the thorough instruction given by your large corps of instructors I was enabled to graduate in one winter. Before graduating you offered me a position at an unusually high salary.

I enjoyed my work at the school immensely.

Your interest in securing me a position could not have been greater, and I therefore say unhesitatingly that I owe my present position to your efforts.

MARY B. BARRY.

I wish to express my appreciation of the thorough course of instruction which I received at your school while a student with you for eight months, taking up the studies of shorthand and type-writing. Your teachers are so efficient and your methods so thorough that upon graduating I immediately secured the position, which I have held ever since.

EMMA L. GALLAGHER.

Kindly accept my sincere thanks for the excellent position that I have obtained almost entirely on your recommendation.

I heartily recommend your institution to anyone desiring a high-grade business education.

I have the honor to be,

Yours truly,
ROBERT B. HOUGH.

I want to thank you for the second position, which you have secured for me. As you know, you placed me with a large clothing establishment after I graduated from your School. One week before I was out of employment, owing to the firm having decided to discontinue business, your Employment Department secured for me another position at a much greater salary than the one I previously received.

ETHELDA L. MACK.

I was successful in securing the position to which you sent me today. I thank you for your promptness in securing me this position. I am at present, as you know, attending your Night School in the Business Department, but have not as yet completed the course. That you should secure for me—a student not yet a graduate of your school—such an excellent position is most gratifying.

MARION B. COOPER.

*When I decided to make a change of position I talked to you concerning same, and as usual you were interested in me and my future advancement.

I want to thank you for your assistance in securing for me the position with The Pequot Shirt Company, Westerly, R. I., which I shall take Monday next, January 15th. I am, as you know, making an excellent salary in my present position, but the new one, which you secured for me, pays me much more and my chances of advancement are infinitely greater.

Your efforts in always endeavoring to secure for me a better position will always be gratefully remembered.

HENRY C. BOWLER.

That I have thus far been very successful as a stenographer and bookkeeper is due to the fact that I received an excellent and thorough training in all subjects pertaining to business at your School.

C. H. WILLEMIN.

One month before graduating from the Bryant & Stratton-Rhode Island Commercial School, I was able to accept a position as stenographer for the American Electrical Works at Phillipsdale, where I remained until I received my present appointment as stenographer to the Central Weather Bureau at Washington, D. C., at $1,000 salary to begin.

I am sure that any young man or woman who faithfully attends to the duties outlined, will attain results in the way of promotion and salary that will more than justify for the time and effort put into the work.

CHARLES A. LOCKE.

I wish to thank you for your success in securing me my present position. I completed the Bookkeeping Course in seven and a half months and before graduating you secured me a position and you also sent me out to several temporary positions. After the excellent instruction I received at your school my work seems very easy.

I cannot speak too highly of the B. & S.-R. I. Commercial School and I certainly appreciate the exceptional services it rendered me.

GERTRUDE BOWEN.

After attending your school for a short period of four months, I accepted a position with the International Rubber Company, where I am at present employed. Since that time my salary has increased nearly three times that which I received before attending your school.

JOSEPH M. ROCKETT.

What the B. & S.—R. I. Commercial School has done for others, it can do for you.

1416 Calls for Graduates and Students of this School in 1916

We were unable to fill many desirable positions during November and December owing to lack of suitable candidates, notwithstanding our large attendance. The demand for BRYANT & STRATTON - RHODE ISLAND graduates is such that we have an average of two positions for every graduate.

The following young men and young women of this school were placed in permanent positions during November and December, 1916.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

A number of both permanent and temporary positions were placed with us through the Underwood Typewriter Company, the Remington Typewriter Company, the L. C. Smith Typewriter Company, the Royal Typewriter Company, and the Neilan Typewriter Exchange. We take this opportunity of thanking these concerns for the confidence placed in this school.

Among the former students and graduates of the combined Bryant & Stratton -- Rhode Island Commercial School are numbered many prominent business executives in Rhode Island and elsewhere. Among the list is a Judge of the Superior Court of Rhode Island, the Presidents of many large concerns, men prominent in various lines of industrial and professional activities; cashiers, assistant cashiers, tellers, bookkeepers and clerks of a large number of banks and manufacturing concerns.

The prestige of graduating from an institution which has sent forth into the business and professional world men of such high standing is in itself an advantage to be considered when selecting a school for business training.

Rhode Island employers place confidence in Bryant & Stratton - Rhode Island Commercial School training. The record of our Position Bureau—from January 1st to December 31, 1916 — given below, proves it.
